Friends the Fourth and annual issues of “Journal de Brahmavart” September 2015 well in time and it is in your hand. I in person repeat it again that Inter-disciplinary and Intra-disciplinary Researches are the reality of time and gradually increasing its presence not only in pure sciences but in social sciences too. The field of archaeology is now not limited to digging of land or the discovery another link of history with the help of latest scientific instruments.

I am happy to present this issue of “Journal de Brahmavart”, a national Journal of Archaeology, History, Indology, Numismatics, Epigraphy and Culture and other allied disciplines, published tri-monthly in English and Hindi languages by Brahmavart Research Institute, Kanpur, U.P., India. Hope this Journal will provide you a platform for sharing ideas and help encouraging researches.

I feel grateful to all Researchers and contributors of the current issue of Journal de Brahmavart for spending their valuable time in submission of papers well within stipulated period. Papers appeared in this issue representing variety of disciplines i.e. archaeology, history, education and culture also.

I am indebted to my friends of different places. I am thankful to my friends Sarvshri Mrigendra Kumar Anil, Ajay Trivedi, Purnendu Sahay and Dr Purushottam Singh all from Kanpur, for their continuous efforts during the course of editing and publishing. Their interest in Archaeology and History is worth appreciable. I am thankful to Shri L.M. Wahal, a very senior Superintending Archaeologist Retired from Archaeological Survey of India for sending his work. The most interesting part of the Editorial Board is that Shri Mrigendra Kumar Anil is a Structural Engineer have developed interest in Archaeology and History and working like a Research Scholar. Shri Ajay Trivedi, basically a historian turned as bureaucrat.

Your valuable observations and suggestions will be our assets.
